

General English

Instructor: Afsoon Piroozan, PhD in TEFL. Faculty member at English Language Department, Medical School, Hormozgan University of Medical Sciences.

Text Book:

Professional English in use_ Medicine. Eric H. Glendinning & Ron Howard.

Units: 1-33, except units 5,6,7,10,11,12,13

Evaluation:

Class participation:	40%
Midterm Exam:	40%
Final Exam:	20%

Class policy

- The educational content is presented through Powerpoint Slides along with audio files in Navid webpage. Online troubleshooting sessions are held once every two weeks and students are expected to participate actively in online classes.
- A midterm exam is given at the most appropriate time for the students. The educational content is not excluded from the final exam.
- Students are not allowed to take the final exam if they don't take the midterm exam or fail to take part in class activities.
- One bonus point is added to the final grade of the students who have managed to attend all the online sessions.

Objective

This course titled “General English” presents Basic medical terms required for the students of this field. It also aims at making the students familiar with rules of word formation and word analysis which are critical to learn medical terminology. At the end of the course, students are expected to be able to start reading and comprehending medical texts.